PLAN EXTRA CURRICULUM CREDIT CODE TO STIMULATE INTEREST IN COLLEGE ACTIVITIES PRES. MOODY ANNOUNCES

Prudential Committee And Trustees Approve Tentative Plan In Principle At Recent Meetings

FACULTY ALSO FAVOR PROPOSED CHANGES

Operation Of New System To Start This Fall—1926 Included In New Requirements

A plan calling for a stated number of credits to be gained in extra curriculum activities in addition to the credits now required for graduation in the regular work of the college, was approved in principle at a recent meeting of the faculty, it became known today. The plan was referred in principle to the Trustees who, through the Prudential committee approved it, but referred it back to the faculty, as within the power of that body to accept or decline, but like the faculty, the Prudential committee went on record as approving the plan in outline. It has now been referred to another committee to be appointed by the President, which shall set the plan in operation after certain revisions.

As far as is known, this plan has not been adopted as yet by any other college, though there are some where certain features are already in operation. It calls for the recognition of many of the activities which today make up undergraduate life, while at the same time placing these on another plane. Credit is given for participation in every legitimate form of college life, but only in addition to the credit given for scholarship.

"The student who is content to do nothing for the College to which he or she goes never makes the best type of citizen afterwards in public life," said President Moody this morning. "The various forms of activity like athletics, journalism, music, dramatics, and responsibilities in leadership will all be

Teacher's College Prof. Added to Breadloaf Staff

Prof. Cook To Offer Course In American Literature—Eight Special Lectures Listed

An additional appointment to the staff of The School of English at Bread Loaf for the coming summer is announced by Dean Wilfred E. Davison. Miss Elizabeth C. Cook, Assistant Professor of English at Teachers College, Columbia University, will give a course in American Literature which will stress characteristic phases of American thought from Jefferson and Hamilton to Walt Whitman. The course will give, also, some consideration to recent trends in American verse and drama.

Professor Cook received the degree of A. B. from Smith in 1899 and of Ph. D. from Columbia in 1902. She contributed a study of Colonial Newspapers and Magazines to The Cambridge History of American Literature, and has much valuable original material for the course she will give at Bread Loaf. Professor Cook's appointment completes the regular teaching staff, which consists of five men and four women.

Eight special lecturers have already been announced. The latest addition to the list is Mr. S. Spencer Scott, of the firm of Harcourt, Brace & Co., Publishers, of New York City. Mr. Scott will give an address on "How Books Are Published." The nine special lecturers this summer include a poet, a novelist, a critic and editor, a publisher, a college president, and four college professors. The program of special lectures promises to be one of the most varied and interesting yet given at Bread Loaf.

Sigma Kappa Pledges Dance Money To Endowment Fund Drive

The members of the Sigma Kappa sorority have decided to give up plans for their annual formal dance, to have been held in McCullough gymnasium Saturday evening, April 28. The purpose is to pledge the money that was set aside for the dance, to the Endowment Fund.

A radio set will be installed in the gymnasium on that night, so that Middlebury students and faculty may enjoy the Middlebury Glee Club concert and address by President Moody, to be broadcasted from New York City.

DR. E. D. COLLINS NOW COMPTROLLER

Prudential Committee Makes Him Business Manager

Formulates Budget And Handles All Of College Business

Dr. Edward D. Collins was elected Comptroller of the College last Saturday at a meeting of the Prudential Committee in conference with a special committee appointed by the Trustees for the purpose of securing a business manager.

The duties of the Comptroller will be in general the direction of the business organization of the College, including supervision of buildings, grounds, and new construction; the operation of the college farms, Bread Loaf Inn, and the Battell forest; purchasing of equipment and supplies; the direction of the Summer Session; the operation of the budget and disbursement of expenditures within the limits of the same; the management of dining halls; the making of leases or contracts required for the housing of students; the organization of departmental and disbursement accounting, and the employment of the staff required to conduct the above operations.

The principal executive officers through whom the Comptroller will function will be the Superintendent of Buildings, the purchasing agent, the Manager of Bread Loaf Inn, the Forester, the Farm Managers, the college Dietitian, the matrons of the various college houses of residence, and the Deans of the special schools of the Summer Session. Contact with the academic side of college affairs will be close through the offices of the President and the Secretary of the Faculty. The connection with the financial operations of the College will be provided by a close association between the Comptroller's office and that of the Treasurer.

While few important changes in organization or business routine are likely to be made before the close of the current fiscal year, the appointment of a Comptroller at this time will enable a careful examination of the budget and business requirements of the College for the ensuing year preliminary to the June meeting of the Trustees.

A report on the business organization of the College was made several weeks ago by Mr. Chistensen, an expert representing the General Education Board employed for such purposes; and such reorganization of the college business as is necessary to bring it in line with present conditions and future developments will be made along lines suggested by this report.

The title of Comptroller, while a new one for Middlebury, is one frequently employed in educational institutions and is fairly representative of the new duties assumed by Dr. Collins, which differ materially from those of academic administration previously performed by him while acting as Provost.

Dr. Collins assumes office immediately. The services of Mr. E. L. Bigelow who has been serving as Assistant to the President are transferred from that office to the new office of Comptroller

GHOSTS? .$10 IF YOU CAN EXPLAIN FREAK

Will Publish Two Best Theories In Next Week's Campus—"Prexy" To Choose Winner

Shades of Gamaliel Painter! Has his ghost returned? Has this patron of Middlebury and pioneer of the Vermont wilderness returned to inspire the present Middlebury generation for the Endowment Fund drive? Or is the departed spirit of one of Middlebury's presidents returning to aid the campaign which opens on the campus next Tuesday? These and numerous other questions have been asked during the past week when it became known that a photograph of the Mead Memorial Chapel from the Old Chapel room taken during the night, exhibited ectoplasmic manifestation when run through the developer.

President Moody and others who were in the room, together with the photographer have been unable to offer any explanations of this strange happening, and the belief has been expressed that it was impossible for a double exposure to have taken place due to the great care that was taken with the plate.

The Campus, believing that there is an explanation of this strange phenomenon, offers a prize of $10.00 for the best explanation offered by any undergraduate, as to how this freak of the camera could have been made. All explanations are limited to 200 words, and must be left at the President's office before noon of Monday, April 23. President Moody will announce through the next week's edition of The Campus the winner of the prize. The two best explanations will be published in next week's Campus.

Start your brains working and your pencils writing, and let us know at once what you think about this happening. It may mean $10.00 to you! And all for 200 words. That's five cents a word.

"Better than they pay me for all of my philosophic utterances about this here campus," said "Billy" Farrell when we told him of the plan this morning. He said that he almost wished he was an undergraduate himself so that he might have a chance at the prize. Think! Act! Write! $10.00!!!

"CHIEF" BENDER TO ASSIST IN COACHING

Was Team-mate Of Morey On Mack's Champions

Inclement Weather Hinders Practice Of Varsity Squad

Of great importance and interest to undergraduates and alumni is the announcement made this morning by Coach Dave Morey that Chief Bender one of the greatest ball players of all time will be in Middlebury from April 25 to 28, to assist Coach Morey in whipping the Blue and White baseball team into shape. He will arrive in time to coach the men just before the opening game of the season with Lowell Textile and will also be here when the Middlebury nine meets the New York State Teachers College and point out to them the mistakes in these two tilts and help them to correct them.

Coach Bender was for several years with the Philadelphia Athletics and is recognized as one of the greatest men that has ever been developed in the realms of baseball. In 1913 he and Coach Morey were teammates on the championship Philadelphia team that is now considered the greatest team in the history of the national sport and which had the honor of supporting a $100,000 infield. He was also playing manager of the championship New Haven team of the Eastern League and last year piloted the Reading team. His trip to Middlebury will be one of unusual importance and value in coaching the team.

Hindered by unusual weather conditions and inadequate training quarters Coach Morey was unable to call out the baseball candidates until last week and since then there have been two days in which practice was impossible because of the cold weather so that the team will be practically a month behind the teams that it will meet. The need of a baseball cage has been clearly demonstrated this year by the delay in starting practice. A large number of men have reported but Coach Morey has been unable to do enough with the candidates to yet make any statement relative to the prospects.

The last year's men who have reported are Kilbride, Hastings, D. Ross, Witham, Hersig, Gallagher, Klevenow, Daly, Papke and White. A large number of new men are out for the various positions and some of them look like promising material to Coach Morey. The following new men have reported so far: catchers, Potter, Bennett, Gray, Phillips, Frank and Tucker; pitchers, Towne, W. Rice, Williams, Hellman, Coates, Purdy, Sincerbox and Moynihan; 1st base, Holdstock; 2nd base, Novotny; 3rd base, Whitney and Banks; short stop, R. Rice, Rogalski and McNeil; outfielders, Martin, C. Leonard, Wittenberg, Clower, Lobo.

Shepardson '23, Heads College Body Committee To Push Drive Among Students

PRESIDENT OUTLINES PLANS AT LUNCHEON

Need Of Close Cooperaton By Students Shown Necessary To Make Campaign Successful

The opening gun of the Middlebury Million drive will be brought home to the undergraduate body at the initial rally to be held Tuesday in the McCullough Gymnasium. Plans for the participation of the student body in the drive were formulated at a luncheon of the committee held at the Addison House, Monday. R. R. Shepardson '23, chairman of the undergraduate committee, called upon President Paul D. Moody to outline the plan of campaign and the need for increased endowment.

"Middlebury's position in the scholastic world," declared President Moody, "demands that it give immediate consideration to the faculty by providing salaries more nearly in keeping with the services the College receives. Hardly a month passes but some member of our teaching staff turns down an attractive offer to teach elsewhere at a salary considerably above what Middlebury can pay. Their loyalty and consideration to Middlebury keeps them here ever at a considerable personal sacrifice.

"But the benefits to be gained by the increase in our endowment will not accrue to the faculty alone. It has been and always will be our aim to man our teaching staff not only with instructors of high scholastic attainments but with men and women whose characters and personalities will make a lasting impression on the lives of our students. Middlebury is planning not only to pay a debt of honor to its faculty but to insure itself a future as glorious as its past."

Arrange To Broadcast N. Y. Rally From Station WEAF

"Prexy" To Speak And Glee Club To Appear At Opening Of Million Drive

An important feature of the opening of the intensive campaign for the endowment fund, which will be carried on from April 28 to May 25, will be the singing of the College Glee Club at the New York-Middlebury Dinner, at the Majestic Hotel, in New York, the evening of April 28. Besides singing several selections to the alumni audience at the banquet, the Club will broadcast a short program from Station WEAF of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., Room 410, 195 Broadway, wave length 400 metres. The program will start at 7:30 p. m. eastern time and will last from 15 to 20 minutes. Immediately after, President Moody will broadcast an address.

Leaving Middlebury next Tuesday, the Glee Club will make a short trip through southern Vermont. The first stop will be at Springfield, Vt., the evening of April 24. On the 25th, the singers will appear at Ludlow, and the 26th, at Rutland. In all probability, they will go directly from Rutland to New York, where they are to sing April 28. Professor Luther I. Bonney will direct the Club at these concerts.

On May 12, the last day of Junior Week, the Glee singers will present their last program of the season in a joint concert with the Norwich Club before a local audience. The arrangement with Norwich provides that the Middlebury Club shall repay the visit by going to Northfield for a return joint concert next year.

WE HAVE KEPT FAITH

In assuming control of The Campus a year ago, a platform was advanced, setting forth the ideals and standards upon which the then incoming board would operate. The outstanding planks of this declaration pledged the incoming administration "to be fair to all interests of the College, both individual and collective; to be honest and without malice in its opinions; and to devote itself at all times to the interests of Middlebury and the student body." With this platform we had hopes of strengthening the solid foundation laid by those who instituted The Undergraduate over a century ago.

As we review the conduct of our affairs, we believe that the promised course has been followed. Particularly have we opened the columns of The Campus for communications in order that student opinion and thought might be broadcasted. Criticism has been advanced on this open policy, but it is our belief that, since The Campus is the "student publication of Middlebury College," this freedom should be permitted.

The present board cherished a hope, when it assumed responsibility, that The Campus might be raised above a mere diary of college happenings and events, and be transformed into a newspaper, presenting its facts from a viewpoint of modern journalism rather than from an editorial point of view. This we believe has been accomplished. The importance heretofore placed on news of athletic teams has been lessened and other branches of college activity have been elevated to their rightful and representative places. A brief picture of the College was presented in a series of articles coming from the President, the Dean, Dr. Barton for the Trustees, Dr. Wright for the Facutly, and Dr. Brainerd from the point of view of an ex-President. These articles, we feel, portrayed the advantages Middlebury men and women enjoy today and from which they might gain a vision of their duty to the Middlebury men and women of tomorrow. A variety in the make-up of each week's issue has been a policy of the present board; we have believed that in this policy the old, stereotyped forms would be abandoned, thus adding new power and force to the appearance of The Campus.

We have differed in our editorial policy from our predecessors, and have advocated at times, policies which did not meet with the approval of the student body and which were radical in their character. This is but a natural outcome of natural causes, however, because the Middlebury of today is a new Middlebury and is bound, therefore, to express itself differently from a generation ago. Because of this we have affirmed our belief in the need of a state-wide clean-up in collegiate athletics, and in the adoption of the one-year rule in intercollegiate sports. The need of a more general understanding of the fundamental principles of science, art, religion, government and of current happenings has been emphasized in The Campus; and today we have the present Contemporary Civilization course required of all members of the freshmen class. Increased participation in college activities was advocated and plans are now under way for the placing of all athletics on a point system, and requiring a certain number previous to graduation. The need of enlarging the Starr Library was noted. Various plans are now being considered to meet this need.

Leaving behind this record of achievement, we turn over the reins of authority and control to the new board. Upon their shoulders will rest the responsibility of keeping high the standards already set, and of adding to the records already made. We hope that they will look upon their positions as opportunities and their offices as trusts. To them we wish an ever increasing success, and we trust that their administration may not be fraught with the discouragements and disappointments that have, at times, characterized our experiences. Their trust in Middlebury, her spirit, her ideals, and her endeavors, will aid them in their climb. It is our belief that the coming year will be the most successful ever enjoyed by The Campus, and will bring to our successors the reward their services will merit.

COMMUNICATION

1922 Alumnus Takes Issue With Classmate—Believes J. B. H. Bases Argument On Unfair Inferences

To the Editor of the Campus:

I have noted with no little chagrin the reply of J. B. H. to the letter of "The Observer" published in a recent issue of your paper, relative to the women expressing themselves on the Rhur question. Having read both communications very carefully the question arises in my mind has not J. B. H. based his argument on unfair inferences?

The Observer is not condemning the women because they expressed an opinion but rather the method by which they arrived at a conclusion on an important issue. It stands without question that a conclusion concerning a question of intricate detail reached on the basis of five minutes thought is anything but sound.

Further J. B. H. goes on to say "This occupation is an action similar to the German invasion of Belgium in 1914." The Germans in 1914 raided and burned Belgian villages, and massacred the inhabitants on the slightest provocation. The French have not resorted to such methods. They have sought to maintain order in the Ruhr, and in some instances, on provocation, have exercised a firm hand, but not once have they done anything comparing to the atrocities committed by the Germans in Belgium.

J. B. H. goes on record as saying France is morally wrong. It is one thing to make an assertion and another thing to support it. Can this assertion be supported?

In the first place, Germany is now adjudged in the eyes of the world as the instigator, for selfish gain, of the World War. In the attempted accomplishment of her purpose she devastated a large portion of France, resulting in a loss to France of many millions of dollars. Much of this destruction was not a natural consequence of war, but was purposely and maliciously planned and executed. At the close of the war, tho Germany lost, she was left intact, while France found a large part of her economic resources entirely destroyed, representing losses which can never be adequately compensated. Under these circumstances is it morally wrong that France should insist that Germany pay reparations, and should take measures to see that she does pay?

It is a well known principle in the civil law that when one intentionally wrongs another he shall make restitution to the one wronged, in money damages, or thru other means. And the law sometimes permits the seizure of the wrongdoer's property as a measure of compensation. Is France doing anything but this? If J. B. H. is right in his assertion then one of our basic principles of jurisprudence is wrong. But the writer submits as a question for unbiased judgment if under the conditions now confronting France she is not justified in seeking to obtain some measure of restitution for her wrong?

One might say that the reparations bill is excessive, but this has been reduced for Germany, and even on the strength of these reductions she has shown nothing but an attempt to evade even partial payment of a just debt. Let Germany show a decent intent first before she complains. And is it not a part of our Christian religion that the sinner repent before being forgiven?

In fact, if France were to do anything different she would be aiding and abetting the commission of such crimes as were perpetrated by Germany in 1914. Germany must be made to realize that she has done wrong, and must repay—otherwise there is nothing to stop her saying that she made a pretty good thing of the last war, so why not try another.

So I would ask J. B. H. if it would not be more suitable for him to confine himself to a careful scrutiny of the real facts of the case, which a superficial reading of the newspapers might convey, rather than the iteration of generalities. Is it not fair to ask any man, before he pronounces judgment on any issue, to seek first to learn all the facts, and second to present them fairly, rather than attempt to prejudice others by stating half the case?

'24 Kaleid Will Appear Junior Week

"The 1924 Kaleidoscope will be out Junior Week," was the substance of an announcement made this morning by the management of the 1924 class book. The production is the most expensive ever attempted by a Kaleidoscope board, but the new features embodied in this year's publication, make these expenditures seem justified. The 1924 book is distinctive in that it has departed from set forms of past years, and the board has made every effort to make the book worthy of a Middlebury publication. It's appearance Junior Week will be in keeping with a past custom of the Kaleidoscope.

Thirty Answer Golf Call

Golf enthusiasts are looking forward to a most successful Spring season, following the announcement yesterday that arrangements were under way to provide for the use of the Middlebury Country Club links by the undergraduates. Coach Dave Morey is making arrangements to have the 30 men who stated they were interested in the sport, divided into classes, and run a class and college tourament. Until the financial arrangements have been made with the Country Club, the students have been granted the privilege of playing on the links as the guests of the club.

"Resurrection" Theme Of Bishop Hall's Sermon

Vermont Episcopal Divine Chooses Philippians 3:20, 21, As Text Of Vesper Sermon

"The body is an integral part of man's nature," said the Rt. Rev A. C. Hall, Episcopal Bishop of Vermont, in speaking at the Sunday vesper service. Bishop Hall took his text from Philippians 3-20,21, "We look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto His glorious body."

"The body is intended to be the instrument of the spirit through which the spirit receives impressions and expresses itself. Jesus continually promised the disciples of His resurrection and they continually bore witness to His resurrected spirit. He didn't come back to life but He rose victoriously. Death had no power over Him. But His body was in a changed condition; He was spiritualized, ascending in the end to Heaven. It was as though His inner self had stamped itself upon the outer form.

"There is nothing unnatural in our Lord's resurrection in the past or in ours in the future," continued Bishop Hall. "Spirituality doesn't consist in getting away from the body but in penetrating it and taking hold of its actions. The spirit manifests itself through outward action. Spirituality makes up a real part of our education. It forms a personal training to keep our body in obedience, chastity and self control. We must make our body a perfect instrument of the spirit that God may glorify Himself in us, in body and in spirit."

LECTURES ON "ALASKA"

Dr. Chapman '79, To Tell Of Life In Northern Territory

Dr. John W. Chapman will give an illustrated lecture on "Alaska," this evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Gymnasium. Dr. Chapman is a graduate of Middlebury College in the class of 1879, and has spent most of his life as a missionary among the natives of our northern territory. He is on leave of absence this year, and everywhere that he has delivered addresses he has met with a large and enthusiastic response. The lecture this evening will be under the auspices of the Henry Norman Hudson Club and will be open to all students and townspeople.

Dr. Chapman is also a graduate of Middlebury High School and of the General Theological Seminary, New York City. He was ordained into the priesthood of the Episcopal Church in 1887, and since that time has been a missionary to Alaska. He might be regarded as Middlebury's "Dr. Barton" of that section of the world. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. His son, Henry H. Chapman, '18, was recently ordained to the deaconate in Middlebury and to the priesthood in Rutland.

AMEND TWO-SPORT RULE AT FACULTY MEETING THURSDAY

At a meeting of the faculty Thursday, action was taken which allows a student who has attained for the previous semester an average of 75 per cent, and who has earned 15 hours credit, to participate in more than two major sports each year. This as well as other measures regarding athletics, was presented to the faculty in the form of a recommendation by the faculty committee on athletics. All of these recommendations were accepted by the faculty and go into effect at once. They are as follows:

1. That a freshman schedule in athletic activities be sanctioned.

2. That all freshmen athletics be under the direct supervision of the physical director.

3. That all sports in which varsity teams represent the college may be included in the schedule for freshman athletics.

4 That the number of freshman contests permitted at home and away in each sport be left to a committee composed of the physical director, the dean of men, and the graduate manager of athletics.

5. That section 2 rule 4 under attendance of the regulations of Middlebury College be amended to read as follows: No student will be allowed to represent the college as a participant or in an administrative capacity in any athletic, (musical or dramatic organization) if he has failed to complete for the previous semester 12 points credit toward graduation or if the midsemester grades show that he is not maintaining a passing grade in 12 hours during the current semester.

6. That section 8 rule 2f under student activities be amended to read as follows: No student is allowed to engage in varsity or freshman athletics in more than two of the three athletic seasons, (1) fall, (2) winter, (3) spring, unless for the previous semester he has attained an average of 75 per cent and earned 15 hours credit.

7. That a freshman on probation is not allowed to represent the college in athletics.

8. That section 8 rule 2E under student activities be amended to read as follows: The number of varsity foot-ball games during any season is limited to nine, not more than six of which are to be played away from town. The number of varsity baseball games during any season is limited to fifteen, not more than eight to be played away from town. The number of varsity basket-ball games during any season is limited to twelve, not more than seven to be played away from town. The number of tournaments in which the college tennis team may take part is limited to eight. Games during Junior Week or vacations are not counted in any case.

TRACK MEN FAST ROUNDING INTO SHAPE TO MEET PURPLE

The trials for the Williams meet are being held daily, and though unable to get out doors as soon as was hoped, the performances of the varsity track artists in the trials promise to give the Purple a hard race.

With Captain Shelvey, "Doc" Cook, Whitten, Kendall, Doolittle and Peck of last year's letter men fast rounding into shape Coach Brown entertains high hopes.

In the 100-Yard trials the following qualified for the final: Cook, Crane, Happ, Leonard, Krichbaum, Tully. In the mile: Fish, Shelvey and Oliver qualified in the order named. The 220-Yard dash brought out many who had previously qualified in the 100-Yard event. They were Cook, Crane and Happ.

In the jumps Middlebury will be represented by Cook, Doolittle, Potter, Krichbaum, and in high jump by Cook, P. Whitney. Carlton is the leading man in the broad jump event.

The tryouts in the quarter mile will be held this afternoon and in the two mile Friday.

PROF. BRYANT RETURNS FROM FRANKLIN INSTITUTE

Prof. Ernest C. Bryant was in Philadelphia last week attending a series of lectures given at the Franklin Institute by Sir J. J. Thomson, Master of Trinity College, Cambridge, England. Professor Thomson was Director of the Cavendish Laboratory of Cambridge University from 1876 to 1918. He discovered the electron in 1897, thereby answering the question "What is electricity?" Professor Bryant worked under him during his year's leave of absence.

"Aeronautical Engineering" Subject Of Vocational Talk

M. I. T. Professor Tells Of Various Phases Of Aeroplane Industry Under Present Conditions

Research, designing, manufacturing, and operating were the four main divisions of aeronautical engineering which Professor Warner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology brought out in his address in the Chemistry Lecture Room Friday night.

First, the research of the business, he said, was, as in any enterprise, a very vital part. Altho the research man, working day after day in his laboratory on a series of problems, may not seem to accomplish much, in a few years he is bound to see the fruit of his labors in improvements. Prof. Warner cited the automobile industry as perhaps the greatest example of this. He said that there was a place for every thoroughly trained man in this department, but no man need expect to be —the softest course in college

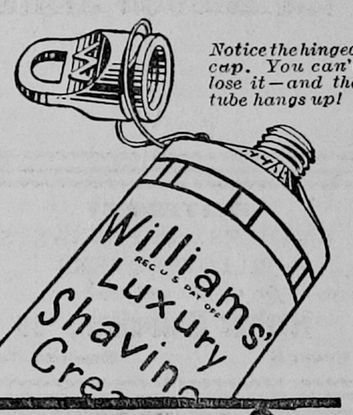
WILLIAMS' VII is a course for every man in the institution. It's seven times a week but the sessions are short—less than five minutes each. And best of all, no man who elects Williams' ever fails—to get a better shave than he ever got before.

The first thing you learn in shaving with Williams' is of the remarkably beneficial effect it has on your skin. You can't fail to be impressed—even after the closest examination—with the fact that here, at last, is a shaving cream which really does your face good.

Then, especially if you're of a practical, business-like turn of mind, you'll be pleased with the efficiency of Williams'. It softens the beard in so much less time. It does everything a shaving cream is supposed to do.

Get a tube of Williams' today. Use it for two months. See then if you ever could go back to any other shaving cream.



Notice the hinged cap. You can't lose it—and the tube hangs up!

Miss LaForce transferred to Middlebury from Stetson University, entering in the fall of 1921. She has been prominent in dramatic circles, being a member of the Dramatic Club, and will carry the leading part in the Junior Play this year. She had charge of the organizations write-ups for the 1924 Kaleidoscope. Miss LaForce is a member of Delta Delta Delta fraternity, and of Delta Psi Kappa, national athletic fraternity. Her home is in Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Mead has been prominent in activities in the Women's College, being president of the Mandolin Club, and assistant business manager of the 1924 Kadeidoscope. given a position who did not have a complete knowledge of the fundamentals of physics and chemistry.

Secondly, he said the designing of airplanes offered a great opportunity to those who were trained and that there was an ever-increasing demand for men in this phase of the industry. But, as in research, they must be wholly prepared for the work.

In the third place he admitted that the manufacture of airplanes, at present, is not an attractive business. When the Armistice was signed, hundreds of orders were cancelled. Big factories which had been built to supply the war demands have either struggled along or have been sold out entirely and replaced by smaller ones. He showed the marvelous increase of output from pre-war to war times by contrasting a total of twelve planes in 1915 with the fact that in 1918 they were manufacturing "6000 at a jump." But at the present time the business is paralyzed. However, he said air transportation was coming and no doubt the future was bright for the manufacturer.

Professor Warner's fourth and last point was on the operation and use of the airplane. He said that in the future many competent men would be wanted to operate airplanes. He advised a general engineering training, and, especially, actual experience on machines. He said the time required for learning varied with the weather and the student. He said that a method of travel which saved from fifty to eighty per cent of the time of ordinary transportation and which was so much more comfortable and pleasant would, beyond question, be the one of the futur.e

Speaking of gliders, Professor Warner mentioned the contests which took place in Europe last summer, and a glider which the students of M. I. T. built and entered. He said the record time for remaining in the air was about eight and a half hours and the distance flown was about six miles.

Professor Warner said he could not emphasize too strongly the need for thorough training if one intended to enter this work. He said that graduate work was preferred. And, finally, that there was a place for every man if he was capable and trained.

Drama Club Play "Green Stockings" Next Wednesday

Prof. Burrage Coaches Cast For Three Act Comedy Production Of Mason's Play

The Dramatic Club will present a three act comedy, "Green Stockings," by A. E. W. Mason, in the McCullough Gymnasium, Wednesday evening, April 25, at eight o'clock.

The play has its origin in the old English custom which compels an older unmarried sister to wear green stockings at the wedding of her younger sister. Celia, the older sister, wishes to escape this and pretends she is engaged to an army officer who is serving in a foreign country. The action really begins when the officer appears on the scene to claim his fiancee. The play is replete with laughs and tight situations.

An admirable cast has been chosen and the coaching is in the capable hands of Professor Burrage. Those who saw Professor Cady in "The Pot-Boiler" last year know his possibilities in the role of Colonel Smith, the mythical army officer. Madeline Gaylor will play Celia.

All seats for the performance will be reserved, and the sale begins tonight at Frost's pharmacy. Admission will be fifty cents. Dramatic Club members may secure seats for twenty-five cents on presentation of membership cards.

Plan Extra Curriculum Credit Code To Increase Interest In Activities

evaluated as nearly as possible and credits given in all these fields, not alone for the successful candidate, but also for those whose endeavor was an evidence of faithful and painstaking effort, even if uncrowned with success.

"The student who has not won a certain minimum number of these credits will not only be ineligible for graduation honors, but possibly for graduation at all," President Moody continued in explaining the plan, "There are some details of this kind that are yet to be finally decided by the committee. A certain number of credits will be allowed to those who are dependant entirely upon their own efforts in going through college, as these are not only valuable students in any college, but the necessity of work limits them in the amount of time at their disposal."

President Moody stated that the final announcement, giving the number of points for the various undergraduate activities, and the minimum number required previous to graduation would be made in the near future. As contemplated at present this will apply only to the present freshmen class, and to the incoming Class of 1927, and will be put in full operation next fall.

Endowment Drive Opens On Campus Tuesday—Week Ahead of Nation

Plans for the participation of the undergraduate body were further outlined to the committee by leaders in the organization of the drive. These plans call for the active cooperation of every undergraduate in a way which will not only insure the raising of the student body's share of the fund but will encourage the participation of people throughout the country as well.

The intensive period of the campaign will start Tuesday night when the student rally will be held in the Gym, the time having been set for 7:15 o'clock. Between that time and noon of Friday, April 27, an opportunity will be given every undergraduate to subscribe. Plans have also been made for the posting of daily reports showing amounts raised by the four classes, the percentage of the members of each class who have subscribed, and other features of interest with the campaign.

The undergraduate committee, appointed by President Moody, which will have charge of the campaign on the campus, is made up of the following: 1923, Rowland R. Shepardson, Chairman, Guilford M. Austin, Beulah Scott, Barbara Stilphen; 1924, Reginald G. Savage, Cecil B. Simmonds, Beatrice Mills, Janice Mead; 1925, Beacom Rich, Henry Happ, Ruth Tuthill, Dorothy Johnson; 1926: Fuller Martin, Horton Buckley, Frances Harder, Hazel Abbott.

The actual drive all over the country will start April 27, and will extend over a period of one month. The six national divisions have been fully mobilized, and all that remains to be done is to give the signal for advance.

The plan of attack will be more fully explained in next week's issue of The Campus.
